17. NOTES

The event is subject to the proviso that it may have to be restricted or cancelled due to official directives. Participants bear this risk themselves!

The PingPongParkinson Initiative, its members and all participants, although not competitive sports, make a great deal of organisational and financial effort for tournaments like this. And that makes sense! On the one hand, the tournaments naturally serve as a meeting place for participants from all over the world. Once you have taken part in a PPP tournament, it is hard to stay away from others, it is simply special...

On the other hand, these tournaments serve to raise public awareness of Parkinson's disease and to make the idea of PingPongParkinson better known. Therefore, we advocate - also for the tournaments - the participation of as many players as possible, regardless of their level of table tennis ability! Only if people with Parkinson's show unity will it be possible to reach national media and thus a broader public.

From our point of view, public relations also include trying to get media representatives into the hall. We cannot guarantee anonymity! On the contrary, we also ask you to approach the matter openly!
